

BattleDress

Whilst fighting for Corian and battling with love, hiding who you really are can be a tricky business. Two things are important to Christiana - protecting her family and her country. Her lifestyle means she can now achieve both of these things, things that have eluded her since childhood. In Doncer, Christiana is known as Captain Christopher Apperley. Disguising herself as a male warrior means life is not simple but this is all she has ever strived for. Sparks fly when William Corbett, Prince of Corian wants the warriors help to reclaim his throne from his uncle who has usurped him. What starts out as a simple agreement develops into something much more complex. What could lie within: wars, titles, money and death? But does love reach her in time or does she lose it forever?
