

Its just as easy to fall in love with a rich man as a poor man. After a disastrous first marriage, Rebecca took that advice to heart. Two husbands later, Rebecca is now a woman of independent means and still beautiful. She decides to build a home in Sedona to be near her young grandson. However, there are signs that her beauty cant last forever, and the opportunity to reel in one more wealthy husband seems too good to pass up. Dan is a man living with regrets. Despite his thriving business, his past keeps him alone and hes fine with that, at least until Rebecca comes into his life. Still, her plans obviously dont include him, and anyway shes just a client, so why does he care so much? As Dan and Rebecca work together on her dream house, their friendship grows, but old habits die hard. Can they overcome the past in order to build a future ... together?
